

The Center for Nutritional Psychology (CNP)
CNP Library Membership Terms and Conditions

OBJECTIVES

The objective of this document is to lay out the Terms and Conditions associated with the CNP Library Membership program (henceforth referred to as “Membership” or “Subscription”) provided by The Center for Nutritional Psychology (henceforth referred to as “CNP”). For the purpose of this document, the prospective or existing Membership holder will be referred to as “Member.”

MEMBERSHIP ACCESS

If the prospective Member is under 18 years of age, permission from a parent or legal guardian is needed before accessing CNP Membership.

Membership is non-transferable. Members will not share login credentials with another party, with the exception of Members who hold the Organizations Membership Plan, which allows for the addition of up to four people.

Member is responsible for every use of Membership that occurs in conjunction with use of Member login credentials. In case of unauthorized use of Membership or login credentials, Member must notify CNP as soon as possible.

CNP reserves the right to refuse Membership access.

CNP issues each Member with a discount code valid for all CNP-sponsored courses within 72 hours of Membership purchase. Member will not publicize or share this code with others. Unauthorized distribution of course discount code(s) will result in immediate termination of Membership.

CONTENT SCOPE AND PERMISSIONS

Membership purchase provides access to CNP’s online library database, which includes CNP Summaries, years of study publication, study citations, links to original research publications, and research categories. CNP does not own the rights to any original research publications, open-access or not. Content from original research publications is subject to the copyright and usage policies of original publishers.

CNP Summaries and research categorization are intellectual property of CNP. Members may download, print, distribute, and otherwise utilize these two materials at liberty, provided proper citation is given (APA 7 format preferred).

CNP is routinely updating and expanding its libraries. CNP does not guarantee that specific content will always be available within the Membership platform. Member understands that not every research publication listed has a CNP Summary and that some supplementary data, including but not limited to year and citation, may not be available for each publication.

You must not use scripts to automatically mass download Membership content.

LIABILITY DISCLAIMER

CNP limits its liability to the fullest extent allowed by law. CNP will not be liable for any unintentional, actual, incidental, or consequential damage, loss, or claim of any kind. If Member is dissatisfied with any element of Membership or any portion of these Terms and Conditions, the sole remedy is to cancel Membership. CNP’s total liability in any matter related to Membership or these Terms and Conditions is limited to the total amount Member paid CNP during the year preceding the event giving rise to the liability.

PRICING

Membership prices are provided on CNP's website. While CNP reserves the right to modify Membership pricing at any time and without notice, Members who have already paid for their Membership will not be affected by these changes within the year their Membership is valid for.

Membership is offered in three plans: Student Plan, Professional/Individual Plan, and Organizations Plan. In order to purchase a Student Plan, Member must upload documentation of student status.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWAL

Membership is automatically renewed at exactly one year from date of initial purchase. Member will be sent a reminder email 30 days before Member's subscription is set to renew. Member is responsible for cancelling.

CNP reserves the right to refuse Membership renewal.

CANCELLATION AND REFUNDS

From the time of initial Membership purchase, Member has 48 hours within which they are eligible to receive a full refund. Within 48 hours of initial purchase, Member must contact CNP at contact@nutritional-psychology.org and request a refund. CNP reserves the right to ask for payment verification. After 48 hours has elapsed from initial purchase, Member will not have the ability to receive a refund for Membership purchase.

Member is able to cancel Membership at any time, but will receive neither a full nor partial refund if 48 hours have passed from time of Membership purchase.

CNP reserves the right to cancel Member Membership at any time and without notice. In case of CNP-initiated Membership termination, Member will receive a prorated refund of the original amount paid for Membership, excluding any processing and/or service fees incurred by CNP.

CONFIDENTIALITY

CNP will maintain strict confidentiality of all identifying and personal Member information. This includes financial, biographical, and business information, as well as contact information. CNP reserves the right to publish general, de-identified data regarding Membership usage. This clause will survive the termination of the Membership.

CHANGES TO TERMS

CNP reserves the right to change these Terms and Conditions. Members will be notified of changes. Members who continue Membership maintenance and usage will be considered as having accepted the Terms and Conditions changes.

By purchasing your CNP Membership, you acknowledge that you have read, understood, and accepted the above Terms and Conditions.

If you have questions regarding this document, write to contact@nutritional-psychology.org.